OS Map: Explorer 231 Track: TM 33781 88777 GPX for SatNav 6.25 Miles Updated: 2018

The Waveney Way walking guide is being re-written as a collection of circular walks each of which includes a part of the Waveney Way shown in blue on the map.

Park in or near the lay-by beside Hillside Road West, Bungay. Head NE along Hillside Road West.
Cross the A144 and head east along Hillside Road East, towards Beccles.
Cross a stream. Just before the Co-op exit road, turn right, SE, along a footpath.
When the footpath joins Joyce Road and Meadow Road, head right, SE and again, right, SE.
Head SE past the children's playground to the end of the road.
Go SE through the gate through the meadow or, to avoid the cattle, use the parallel path slightly to the left, fence right.
Go SE through the gate at the far end of the meadow. The two paths re-join.
After one field, turn left, NE, hedge left and head uphill. Go through the gate.
Cross the road and continue NE, on tarmac.
After the farm buildings there are good views, left, over the Waveney valley.
A short detour along the Angle's Way, NW, will give even better views from the crest of the hill.
At the bungalow and lamp post, turn right, SE, away from the views. This path can be a running stream.
At the tarmac, for refreshments, detour left for 600 metres to the Tally Ho tea rooms.
Our route crosses the tarmac, SE, and heads into a leafy path, trees both sides (not the field perimeter).
This path gradually bends right, south. At Castle Road, turn right, west, along the tarmac to join the Waveney Way.
At the T-junction, turn left, SE, signposted St. John Ilk and Halesworth.
At the first house turn right, SW, and head along the sunken lane.
Often this is so overgrown that you have to use the parallel field perimeter, hedge left.
At the bottom of the valley, bear left, roughly south, along another leafy path with trees on both sides.
If this is overgrown, follow the parallel field perimeter, hedge left.
At the next field boundary, don't follow Shoe Devil Lane, left SE. Continue SW, hedge right to the footbridge.
Turn right over the bridge and head NW across the open field judging a constant distance from the hedge to the left.
Closer to the exit gap, a finger post might become visible in the trees. Head NW along the woodland path.
Continue NW, hedge left. Before the end of the field, turn left over a sleeper bridge and over a stile into a pasture.
At the crossroads, go straight ahead, SW, on tarmac.
Just after the fourth telephone pole, near the end of a clump of trees, head right, north, through the gap.
Cross the sleeper bridge. This is the end of this section of the Waveney Way.
Head north across the open field, later hedge left. Cross another sleeper bridge and continue north, no hedges.
Head north over a cross track into a sunken path, often wet and sometimes overgrown.
If the sunken path is overgrown, use the parallel field perimeter, hedge left. Before the field perimeter doubles back on itself, head north through a gap and down a steep slope. Cross a stream, often dry, and turn right, NE, back on the sunken path. At the tarmac, turn left, north,
At Hillside Road West, turn right to return to the lay-by.
